

Service “Testing texts for plagiarisms”

The Service shall be provided to an organization (Customer) on entering the contract with the RSL and to an individual on the conditions of the offer remotely, through the RSL Internet store of services.

The following papers are accepted for the expertise:

1. from organizations – works to be defended or already defended papers at Dissertation Committees of the Customer;
2. from organizations – published scientific papers (monographs, articles, etc.), formed on the demand of the Customer;
3. from individuals – works created by themselves or on the notarized copy of the authorization document of its author;
4. on the official request of the Higher Attestation Committee of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Russian Federation.

The service is provided by the Contractor, Federal State Financed Institution “The Russian State Library”.

The Contractor takes obligations not to let out the materials received from the Customer and not to use those materials for other aims not directly related with the service provided.

The essence of the service provided is: the Customer transfers the document in the electronic form, and the Contractor tests the originality of that document against the set of texts the Contractor possesses, with the help of instruments of the “Antiplagiat.RSL” system. The expertise completed, the Contractor forms and transfers to the Customer an official certificate on the degree of originality of the document tested.

On the request of the Customer there can be formed a report on the primary test of the “Antiplagiat.RSL” system on the basis of which there has been made a certificate.

The report is formed as a separate additional paper to the certificate and composes its integral part.

The document for the expertise shall be transferred as a file formatted as in either of the popular office packets (Microsoft Office .doc, .rtf, OpenOffice .org .odt), or as a text file (.txt), or as a PDF file with a textual layer.

The expertise is carried out by a specially trained and appointed expert who realizes the following actions:

1. Tests the received document with the help of the “Antiplagiat.RSL” system.
2. Analyses the results of the report of the “Antiplagiat.RSL” system so that it contained information on the essential borrowings and did not contain occasional and non- informational coincidences.
3. On the basis of the report from the “Antiplagiat.RSL” system and analysis of the sources of coincident places from the “Antiplagiat.RSL” report forms their decision on the essentiality of the revealed coincidences for the document in question, on their character, location in the document and volumes of borrowing.
4. Analyses references of the tested document and their correspondence with the bibliography of the paper (reference list).
5. Makes the certificate.
